Christmas Formally Welcomed

A COLD-DRIZZLY RAIN drove the annual University Christmas tree lighting ceremony from Lisner Terrace to the inside of the gymnasium last evening but did not seem to dampen the spirits of 90 students and faculty members who came to participate in the event. Although the actual lighting of the tree was necessarily dispensed with, the remainder of the program was presented just as planned for the outside ceremony. A technician from Radio Station WINX was on hand to record the complete program. The recording was subsequently broadcast over WINX between 8 and 8:30 p.m. last night. The program which officially opened the Christmas season for the University commenced at 5:45 p.m. with an introductory welcome by master-of-ceremonies Ben Sorin, president of the Engineers' Council which sponsors the annual event. Sorin on behalf of the Council presented the tree to Dean of Engineering Frederick W. Feiker who offered the dedication of the tree to the memory of the late Professor Frank Hitchcock of the School of Engineering. "I remember clearly a December day in 1939," related Dean Feiker, "my first Christmas as a dean—when, with a group of students from the Engineers' Council and faculty of the School of Engineering, I journeyed to 'Level-Lawn,' the Hitchcock farm in Virginia, to help harvest a big evergreen for the first University Christmas tree."

Rev. Earl Tomlin To Give Address On Promised Land

THE REVEREND Earl H. Tomlin will deliver an address on the topic "Palestine—Land of Promise" next Thursday. The talk is sponsored by the University Religious Council, a campus organization composed of eight religious groups. J. Walter Hurrett, the Council president, urges all students to attend this meeting, which will begin at 8 p.m. in Government 1. Having recently completed a three-month tour of Europe and the Middle East, including Palestine, Rev. Tomlin is well prepared to present an eye-witness account of conditions in the Holy Land. A graduate of Brown University, he has been a prominent Rhode Island minister for twenty-five years. At present he is the Executive Secretary of the Rhode Island Council of Churches.

Chapel Services Are Re-Scheduled

DR. LAURENCE Folkemer, director of religious activities, announced today that University Chapel services will be re-scheduled for Fridays, effective January 9. Prompted by the conflicting Thursday noon class schedule, the change of day will enable more students to attend Chapel. The hour of the weekly service will remain from 12:10 to 12:30 p.m. in Western Presbyterian Church. The Reverend Seth Rogers Brooks of the Universalist National Memorial Church will speak at the service on January 9. Lunch will be served following Chapel.

Coats Listed As Shipwreck Debris

OVERCOATS lost, strayed, or otherwise from the Pi Kappa Alpha Shipwreck Ball last Saturday night at the Hyattsville Armory are being sought. If you lost your coat or if you have a coat which does not belong to you, please contact Bill Brooks at DUpon 0854 or DUpon 5694 for an adjustment.

Registration, Convocation Procedure Set

DR. BURNICE JARMAN, Registrar, has announced that pre-registration for all students now registered at the University will be held on January 2 and 3, between 9 a.m. and 7 p.m. Registration blanks and forms may be obtained in the Registrar's office Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week. All students are urged to get their forms before the holidays in order to alleviate conditions in the office on registration days.

Dr. Jarman also announced that January 5 was the last day to file applications for the February, 22 convocation. If you are to receive a degree at that time, you must file application for that degree by Monday, January 5. Veterans' Education Director Mitchell Dreese today announced some minor changes in procedure to be followed by students when registering on January 2 and 3.

In order to prevent confusion and errors, and to insure veterans against any delay in receipt of assistance checks, Dr. Dreese urges that veterans follow closely the directions given them.

An envelope containing book requisitions, activities book, and class permits will be given to each student upon entering the gymnasium on registration days. Explicit instructions will be printed on the reverse of this envelope pertaining to the completion of the forms and the use of activity books and permits.

By following these instructions before leaving the gym, and by co-operating with the Office of Veterans' Education, each student-veteran will have no delays and more ease.

Ancient Tragedy of Aeschylus Is Next University Production

"AGAMEMNON," tale of a war lord of the ancient Greeks, is the next production of the University Players. A translation by Edith Hamilton of the play by Aeschylus will be presented by the University Players on Thursday evening, December 18, at 8:30 p.m. in Studio 1, Lisner Auditorium. Mimeographed copies of the new stage version will be placed on the reserve shelf at the Library during the period before Christmas for the perusal of students interested in trying out for the play, although try-out material is not limited solely to the play script.

The cast will be chosen and scripts distributed before final exams in order that rehearsals may begin immediately after the new term starts. The show will be presented in Lisner Auditorium on the nights of March 12 and 13.

Miss Hamilton's special stage version eliminates the long choral odes in Aeschylus and places the emphasis on dramatic action. While Miss Hamilton is especially famous for her translation of Greek choral verse, she believes that for a modern audience, choral reading is more confusing than enlightening and should be eliminated. On "doing justice to Aeschylus," Miss Hamilton says, "The best thing we can do for the author is to put on a good show."

"The tragedy of Aeschylus has been neglected because it is the one, among the great Greek plays, which is the most completely untranslatable in the theatre."

Miss Hamilton's version of the play, Miss Elizabeth Turner's dance group, and a special ballet depicting Agamemnon's triumphant return from the war.

Miss Hamilton, a resident of Washington, is one of the greatest contemporary Greek scholars. She has authored several books including "The Greek Myths" and a new "Mythology" which is translating several Greek myths.

For further information concerning the forthcoming production, "Agamemnon," students are requested to contact Miss L. P. Leggett, speech instructor in his office in Lisner Auditorium or to call Dr. J. H. White, GLebe 3322.

AN ALL-UNIVERSITY celebration to show appreciation for Dr. Cloyd Heck Marvin's twenty years of service as President of The George Washington University will begin tonight at 8:45 p.m. in Lisner Auditorium.

The Board of Trustees, the General Alumni Association, faculty, and students will join in honoring President Marvin and in marking the University's progress during the two decades, 1927-1947.

Alexander Wetmore, chairman of the Celebration Committee, University trustee, and president of the General Alumni Association will preside at the celebration exercises. Members of the joint committee assisting Dr. Wetmore are Dr. Leland W. Parr, professor of bacteriology, vice-chairman; Mr. Lester A. Smith, director of alumni relations, executive secretary.

Board of Trustees members General Ulysses S. Grant 3rd, Mrs. Joshua Evans, Jr., Commissioner Robert E. Freer, and Captain Chester Wells; alumni members Mr. Paul Shorb, Mrs. Charles R. Allen, Mrs. William E. Clark, Miss A. Grace Lind, and Mr. William Ellenberger; and faculty members Dean Charles W. Bliven, Dean Elmer Louis Kayser, Professor Charles E. Bish, Benjamin C. Cruickshanks, John W. Brewer, S. C. Oppenheim, Florence Mears, Colin M. Mackall, James H. Taylor, and Frank M. Weida.

Dean Elmer Louis Kayser, University Marshall, will announce the convocation to begin the exercises, followed by the pronouncing of the invocation by Reverend J. Hillman Hollister, pastor of the Chevy (See MARVIN, Page 5)

Parish Orphans To Be Entertained At Holiday Party

NEWMAN CLUB members are planning to give a Christmas party for a small group of children from the Immaculate Conception Parish, Saturday, December 20, at 2:30 p.m.

In previous years the party was held in the Parish School, but this year it will be given in the Newman Hall, 711 N Street, N.W. This house is newly acquired and the Christmas party will be the first party held in the hall since its formal opening on December 14.

Entertainment for the day includes the singing of carols around a brightly trimmed tree, the serving of refreshments and a visit from Santa. Val daDamia will be the man behind the whiskers.

All Newman Club members and their friends are invited to spend a thoroughly enjoyable afternoon at the children's party.

Dawn-dial Voice Becoming Sinister As Barter Problems Return To All

FOR THE LAST few weeks as you've turned on the Dawn-dial in the morning to get the time, the first thing to greet your ears has been the cheery voice of your favorite announcer, shouting, "Only twenty-five days until Christmas." You've muttered, "Ya-ah, your mother wears Army shoes," and gone back to sleep.

But now the voice has become sinister, and you begin making mental lists of the antiquated relatives and moldy friends who'll expect presents from you. Who invited this gift-barter business anyway?

As you prepare for the expedition into the wilds of F Street, you check your finances—happy occupation! And after counting out your gold, you find you have a few thin dimes left over besides your train fare home, and that's a true miracle.

At last, with list in hand, you descend among the multitudes roaming through the department stores, bump into Santa Claus, listen to street-corner carolers, who insist on clanging bells and singing off key, wait in line for hours only to be told they don't have the size you wanted. How are you supposed to know Aunt Hattie's glove size?—the old monster, you'd like to give her some arsenic or a much-needed foundation garment.

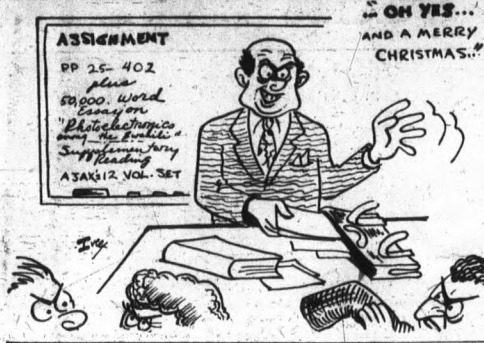

But then there are the conventions.

After you've become sufficiently handicapped, you surrender, trudge home with arms laden down with packages, and find that you are the proud possessor of a very empty wallet. At this point, one wish that a simple and sound chance at Christmas-time.

The final blow falls when you find you're two bucks short on your fare home. Yes, Life's little problems. There's always the hobo system of course, except that hopping freights can get tedious after awhile. But cheer up and have a little Christmas "Spirit" for the grand old season—after all, it's only once a year!

Look, Mac, I don't care who you are! No men get in here after six o'clock.

The Hatchet herewith presents the prize-winning cartoons of its Christmas contest. All entries were judged by Dean Kyser on a basis of humor in conception and skill in execution. Brent Hughes won first prize of $5.00 and Joe Ivy earned the second and third prizes of $3.00 and $2.00.

YOU REALIZE, OF COURSE, I ONLY GOT ONE SLEIGH?

Successful Project

• HAVING JUST seen the new University Engagement Calendar, we take this opportunity to compliment the Columbian Women and the General Alumni Association on their expert handling of this practical and handsome booklet. Its supplementary photographs will cause it to be kept as an intimate reminder of G. W. long after the present year has passed.

The success of this first edition is attested by its immediate popularity, and it is to be hoped that the Engagement Calendar will become a perennial offering.

Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year

The Editors and the entire staff of the Hatchet join in wishing each and all a very rich and joyous Holiday Season.

Gift Suggestion

• IN A FEW days we will be immersed in the customary surfeit of unneeded presents from family, friends, and relatives. All of us will receive gadgets and neckties which we will laughingly accept as useless, but will do so in the spirit that it is "just one of those things" always expected at Christmas time.

It might be a little bit harder to laugh this year. Ten of those embroidered handkerchiefs would buy enough food to keep a schoolboy alive for approximately a week. Of course, on the other hand, he would probably die after that extra week's reprieve, so let's go ahead and buy all the useless gifts we are planning to. Even the wrapping paper will have more "lasting value" than the life of some half-dead scarecrow in Poland. But think just a little about him when you make out your Christmas list. He would receive a ten-cent donation to CARE with more gratitude than any of us could muster for a ten dollar check.

HEAR YE HEAR YEAR!

• THE NEXT EDITION of The Hatchet will be distributed on campus Tuesday, January 13. In that issue, the complete examination schedule will be reprinted, with any corrections or additions made to the listings appearing in this issue. It is asked that students wait until the corrected schedule is printed before questioning faculty members and executive offices of the University concerning the listing.

It's On The Record

By FRENCH CRAWFORD SMITH

• ITALY'S gift to opera, Ferruccio Tagliavini, faced a much smaller audience than attended his debut here, when he appeared in recital on December 9th. Recovering from a cold, Mr. Tagliavini left much to be desired. His interpretations were cool and not particularly discerning. Occasionally, he warmed to the subject, but this was all too seldom. His audience seemed well-pleased and he obliged with three encores.

After the concert, we trekked back-stage and indulged in a many-sided conversation, aided and abetted by Miss Ethel Evans who is Mr. Tagliavini's accompanist, companion, and interpreter. The rumor concerning his recordings in this country was cleared up. Mr. Tagliavini stated that he expected his first recordings here to become available on January 1st. RCA-Victor is not so optimistic, however, and bills them as February releases. Included in the first batch will be the "Lamento di Federico" from Cilea's "L'Arlesiana."

Robert Merrill and Dorothy Kirsten blend their voices in the "Mort de Thais" from Massenet's "Thais." This excerpt is well-recorded and the accompaniment is outstanding. Mr. Merrill, we are happy to say, has apparently spent a little time getting the meat behind the mere notes on a page. This has not always been the case. Miss Kirsten sings "In quelle trine morbide" from Puccini's "Manon Lescaut" on the other side.

The Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra, under Dimitri Mitropoulos, joins Arthur Rubinstein in a very good recording of the famous Tchaikovsky Piano Concerto in B-flat minor, Op. 23. This is one of the best performances by the Minneapolis Symphony to be recorded in some time. Mr. Rubinstein handles his chores very well, too. However, we still prefer the Toscanini-Horowitz version which is still available.

Several weeks ago, James John Cerda, Freshman pre-medical student at The University, appeared in a recital at the Y. M. C. A. Lounge, before a capacity crowd. We have heard this young pianist several times before and his attack always is fresh and seems to have just the right amount of vigor. Indeed, he speaks the language of the piano fluently. His compositions, while naively examples of his youth, do not fail to show promise. It is to be hoped that we will hear more of Cerda's work in the future.

The other day someone asked our opinion of the various recordings of Bizet's "Carmen." To begin with, there are several so-called "Complete" recordings, but they are, unfortunately, sung in Italian. The most notable of these is the La Scala interpretation.

About a year ago, both RCA-Victor and Columbia released "condensed" versions. The former features Gladys Swarthout, Ramon Vinay, Lucia Albanese and Robert Merrill, while Columbia offers Rise Stevens, Raoul Jobin, Nadine Connor and Robert Weede. The RCA-Victor version is preferable to Columbia's because it presents a cohesive, bird's-eye view of the opera. The Columbia album is merely a gathering together of excerpts as they might be performed on the concert stage. As to the individual voices, you "pay your money and you take your choice!"

The long-sought RCA-Victor catalog of both popular and classical music has finally arrived in Washington. Local dealers, however, received only ten percent of the number ordered. To those of you who missed out on the first shipment, our pal, Tom Gray, of Southern Wholesalers, says: "Be patient, more are on the way." Meanwhile, we might let you peek at ours. Concerning the listings that are not now in stock, RCA-Victor promises that all records listed will be available around the middle of April, 1948. We hope so.

Mary Olga Longley, Cherry Tree editor, acting for the staff, will request some member of the faculty to take this position in the near future.

Dr. Franz Libido Mittleschmerz Explains Treatment of Dyspnea

This article prepared at the request of the author of Skin and Bones is a long awaited discussion of an important clinical syndrome by one of the outstanding medical authorities on the subject. For the layman, dyspnea is difficult breathing; ptialism is excessive salivation; and tachycardia is rapid heart beat.

• THE LECTURE HALL fills with students. The chairs rumble, voices are a murmur. Doctor Franz Libido Mittleschmerz enters the lecture hall. Voices slowly die down and silence reigns. Doctor Mittleschmerz, guest lecturer in medicine from the Mayo Sisters Clinic, begins his talk on "Diagnosis and Treatment of Sofa Dyspnea."

"In my trip across the country," the doctor begins, "the nation's medical men have shown profound interest in my subject. Particularly, medical students always see the lighter side of this disease. However, this lecture is aimed at the seniors who in their clinical work probably see more of this entity."

"Diagnosis is not difficult in a typical case. But as we in medicine know, symptoms vary with the personality of the individual. The first symptom is a shortness of breath associated with asthmatic-like wheezing and sighing which may be heard across the ward. This is accentuated by—and note this!—presence of a member of the opposite sex. In a recent case, the young man turned cyanotic and began to show choreiform movements when a female student appeared.

"The second is ptialism and dribbling out of the corners of the mouth associated with temporary exophthalmos. A careful history is elicited and it is found that these symptoms usually precede hospitalization by one week. Further questioning reveals that the ptialism occurred while sitting on a sofa with a friend. Psychiatrists point out that the more intimate desires of the patient toward the friend exacerbates the sympathetic reaction of the salivary glands.

"The third and last symptom is the most important to differentiate from other neurological diseases. This is alternating clonus and tonus involving all striated muscle tissue and has a specific effect on cardiac tissue causing tachycardia, syncope and animal-like whimpers and whistles which escape through the patient's drooling mouth.

"Other symptoms include, insipid facies, staggering gait and anorexia associated with a desire for nicotine.

"Occasionally the history reveals that the patient blames his attacks on (1) allergy to sofa, (2) fear of dark room, (3) soft music with tinnitus, and (4) peculiar odors found behind the external auditory meatus producing an anesthetic euphoria. Treatment is mostly symptomatic (1) shortness of breath—Rx, oxygen and isolation; (2) drooling and dribbling—Rx, 1/75 grain atropine and one large sterile towel placed along angles of the mandible; (3) allergy to sofa can be discounted as no sensitivity has been shown. (Benadryl or other antihistamine drugs may be used to alleviate the wheezing and sighing.) Cantharides is contra indicated; and (4) for the tonus and clonus—Rx, cold wet compresses to the entire integument is of great value. Our statistics show a 98 per cent cure using this treatment alone. One-half P was utilized to compute our statistics.

"Our cases show that both male and female are subjected to this syndrome with males being more preponderant. Age groupings show it may affect any one past thirteen years of age. Recently I saw a case of a 78 year old man who suffered acutely from sofa dyspnea for the last eight years. Discontinuation of testosterone injections helped him become once more a delightful senile.

"Another point I would like to bring up is that the physical exam reveals other functional changes which may mislead the physician in his diagnosis.

"Differential diagnosis include: allergic asthma, Parkinsonian, Sydenham's chorea, Petit mal, or thyrotoxicosis. These must all be ruled out before a true "Sofa Dyspnea" can be diagnosed."

SAE Chooses Halloran Queen of Bal Boheme

By MINERVA and THE LION
 ONE INNOVATION at the annual SAE Bal Boheme, held Friday night, December 5, at the Potomac Boat Club, was the coronation of the first "Queen of the Bal," Julie Halloran, Kappa, chosen on the basis of personal beauty and originality of costume, received the unanimous vote of the judges. Her gown followed in the best Cleopatra tradition, replete with satin and jewels. Then, too, as Mark Antony might have said, "It's the little things that count."

Peeking out from under the brass rail of the "Absinthe Bar"—"Absinthe makes the heart grow fonder," the sign said—we watched the couples pass in review in enourage of a "Mardi Gras" theme. These costumes varied from Little Bo Peep and her "Lamb" to Southern black-faced aristocracy. However, warm and friendly Bohemian spirit soon shone through the disguises of Oriental Priests, Gypsies, Turkish Sultans, Hula Girls, Bums, and various and sundry other masquerades, better imagined than described.

Once or twice we wandered downstairs to the main ball-room, where a six-piece ensemble provided dance music, sweet and hot. Then, after enjoying a brief view of Washington from the balcony overlooking the river, we returned, our gal to her date, donned our black bow ties, and scurried back behind the bar, where we belonged.

The committee plans to investigate the various departmental organizations and activities that would be interested in putting on programs of University-wide interest under the auspices of the Council and will meet in the near future to decide on the policies to govern such programs.

Mrs. H. Doyle Guest Speaker For Luncheon

MRS. HENRY GRATTAN Doyle was the speaker at a luncheon given recently at Jene's for the members of the Division of Languages and Literatures, which includes the faculty of the English, German, and Romance Language Departments.

Mrs. Doyle, wife of the Dean of Columbian College and president of the District of Columbia Board of Education, spoke about conditions in western Europe, which she had the opportunity to observe first-hand during a recent trip to the American zone in Germany.

The primary purpose of Mrs. Doyle's trip was to see her new grandson during her six-weeks' stay in Germany. In addition she visited German schools and made an informal study of what is being done by the United States and the other occupation powers in regard to German education.

Mrs. Doyle showed some post-war German-made toys—a family of dolls, crudely whittled out of old broomsticks, painted, and dressed with scraps of old cloth—as a contrast to the pre-war mechanically perfect craftsmanship.

BRIMMING with holiday spirit, the weekend started last Thursday evening with the Square Dance at Building J. Pat Ludwig proved to be a charming hostess and Ralph Case and his Square Dance Orchestra brought the mountain music to Foggy Bottom.

Saturday afternoon, the Frostbite Regatta found a Georgetown candidate chosen as queen. The same evening the Newman Club held its Christmas Dance. The PIKA's revealed at their tenth annual Shipwreck Ball at the Hyattsville Armory where Louise Whiting was elected queen. Al LaGuardia, PIKA, had the weirdest looking costume—like a night-mare in Harlem.

Also Saturday night the Kappa Alpha Theta Pledge Formal, and Marcia Roessing aglow all evening. Those unidentified bodies at the PIKA House are still waiting to be collected. We've seen everything now—Five SAE's coming over to the Shipwreck Ball without costumes were quickly told to get into the spirit of the thing by removing their trousers.

The KA Tacky Party, Friday night, featured a chug-a-lug contest with milk as the drink. (Eds. note: This is not a misprint).

Many exchange dances Sunday; DZ's-SAE's, Chi O's-Tekes, DG's-Theta Deltas, Pi Phi's-Kappa Sigs. Seen everywhere are Charley Campbell and Helen Yungblut. Also Sally Aguirre, Chi O, and Jack Witte, KA. Ruth Elaine and Herb Halberstadt are now one, having tied the knot recently in Brooklyn.

George Young, Art Editor of the Surveyor, is now a proud poppa. Will Williamson, SAE, and Jana Pierce, Kappa, said it with a pin. Wayne Thompson, SAE alum, and Leila McLaughlin have walked down the aisle. The Kappa's gave a tea for their parents, Sunday. Notable guests were Secretary and Mrs. Clinton Anderson.

FLASH! It's true! Jean Ferguson, DZ, and John Dwyer, PIKA ARE engaged. Close friends are already shopping for wedding gifts.

On the 21st the Teke's will witness Jerry Walker and Mildred Beck exchanging vows. Congrats to Eric Nordholm and Frank Simmons for the successful regatta this past Saturday and Sunday.

Bill Perkins, KA, has proved successful against competition. Robbie Lush, Kappa, is wearing HIS pin. John Slothower, writing technician at Lisner, wonders about the lock on the dressing room door. It turned against him while he stepped out in a state of undress.

Murray Jennings is passing cigars in honor of the new junior. Hatchet Sports Editor Skip Foster planning to take in Miami over the holidays. He claims he's going to the Orange Bowl game.

To our readers (both of them) who struggle along with us w-e-a-k-l-y, we want to wish a Merry Christmas and a very Happy New Year. Girls! Don't forget, next year is Leap Year.

Frenzied Natives Pick Queen At Pi KA's Shipwreck Ball

● BONGO, BONGO, BONGO, you'd have thought you were in the Congo if you happened to stop at the Hyattsville Armory last Saturday night. As if the swaying palm trees and thatched huts weren't enough to complete the delusion, a horde of frenzied maniacal natives running to and fro would certainly have convinced you.

Really though, the PIKA's didn't import a tribe of wild natives for their tenth annual Shipwreck Ball. At other times of the year these "natives" are respectable normal-acting students at the University. But each year around the first part of December the brothers of Pi Kappa Alpha are seen to undergo a most unusual metamorphosis.

Brilliant-colored body make-ups are brought from their year-long hiding places. Gay-designed cloth is stitched into bathing briefs. And for a whole week before the big event nothing is heard around the PIKA house except huge plans of how to outdo last year's Shipwreck Ball.

When the big night arrived last Saturday it was easy to see that last year had really been outdone. Purple natives, green natives, blue natives, and just plain ordinary brown natives lent an air of fanaticism to the "Island of Amnesia" that would defy similarity to any known or unknown place on this earth. There was of course also the usual complement of shipwrecked sailors and sailorettes, some remembering to grab their Navy "Mae West's" before the ship went down.

Highlight of the evening was the naming of Louise Whiting, Alpha Delta Pi, the 1947 "Queen of the Shipwreck Ball." Four swarthy natives carried her to the stage on a specially-constructed jungle sedan chair where she was crowned by Fred Stevenson, proponent of the first Shipwreck Ball and perennial spirit of all shipwreck balls.

Bobby Roberts' band provided jungle rhythms for the native horde from 10 p.m. till 2 a.m. A hula team of four dancers provided provocative entertainment during the intermission. Authentic jungle furniture consisting of long, low tables and straw mats to kneel or sit on added novelty to the decor.

That the Shipwreck Ball has come of age in popularity on campus is evidenced by the greatly increased number of sarong-draped native girls this year, by the whirling-dervish spirit of frivolity that prevailed, and by the attendance of representatives from practically every fraternity and sorority at the University.

President Marvin To Outline Hopes For Development

Chase Presbyterian Church.

Testimonials of tribute to President Marvin will next be given by Dr. Parr representing the faculty, Dr. Wetmore representing the Alumni Association, and Fremont Jewell, president of Student Council, representing the student body.

Principal speaker of the occasion will be Robert V. Fleming, Chairman of the Board of Trustees. His address of tribute will be followed and answered by President Marvin who will outline his hopes for future development of the University.

At the conclusion of President Marvin's response, General Grant, vice-president of the University, will make a presentation of a specially prepared album of photographs and historical documents depicting the University's development during the past two decades.

The University Band under the direction of Leon Brusloff will assist in the ceremonies by playing several musical selections. The University Glee Clubs will appear under Dr. Robert H. Harmon's direction, accompanied by Mrs. Harmon, to sing a few choral selections.

The benediction by Reverend Hollister will conclude the formal part of the program, following which the assemblage will adjourn to the lower lobby of Lisner Auditorium where an informal reception will be held for President and Mrs. Marvin. Dean Kayser will make introductions of guests. Refreshments are to be served.

In appreciation of President Marvin's twentieth anniversary a special issue of the Alumni Review is being dedicated to him. The key article, "Twenty Years After," written by Dean Henry Grattan Doyle of Columbian College, expresses quite appropriately the sentiment of the University toward President Marvin and the gratitude for his service. "Those of us who have been privileged to serve with him . . . share this sense of dedication, of determination to strive to the utmost degree in order to help to bring to pass at least some of our common hopes and dreams for the future of this great institution."

Excellent Staging, Cast, Timing Carry 'Fan' Thru Rave Run

By SARA FORD DALLMEYER

● UNDERSTANDING Director Edward Mangum's purpose in producing Carlo Goldoni's "The Fan," The University players' initial offering of their first season, was an important step in the enjoyment of this 18th century comedy.

Quoting from the program

Christmas Spirit Aided by Caroling constituted the remainder of the ceremony. A mixed glee club of 18 voices under the direction of Dr. Robert H. Harmon sang "Silent Night," "The First Noel," "O Little Town of Bethlehem," and "Adeste Fidelis" with solo verses by Charles Baker, Dottie Bains, and John Britt.

The glee club was ably accompanied by a 33-piece ensemble of the University Band led by Leon Brusloff. Christmas carol songbooks were distributed among the 35 students in attendance in the audience for general caroling (while the glee club was singing).

The Christmas tree—left, as it were, outside in the cold—is a well-shaped 16-foot evergreen. It was procured last Saturday morning on the Fairfax County, Virginia, estate of Mr. William P. Ames, brother of Professor Norman B. Ames of the electrical engineering department.

notes, "The University Players set as their goal the production of classics, originals, and experimental forms in the best traditions of stage practice."

In view of this standard, though the thread of Goldoni's plot is slim, at times indefinable, Director Mangum, with the assistance of Dr. Natalie White, member of the University speech department, made excellent use of his stage and cast.

Characterizations, timing, and interpretation were well above amateur theater. Each role from the spirited Giannina, played by the equally spirited Zella Fiehandler, to the simpleton coffee-shop host, done so convincingly by Alan Wakefield, was handled in true Italian gesticulatory fashion, with no hesitation on cues.

In describing the setting, which was produced by Jane Summers, Robert Stevens, Nelson Wurz and a competent crew, it is enough to say that the small village near Milan was superbly created. With such a setting for Goldoni's characters to romp through, the University Players achieved an effect difficult to find in college theater.

KA Judge Has Court Friday Eve

• "THE KAPPA ALPHA active court is now in session," the Judge, Joe Koach, announced. With these words the KA pledges took out their feelings on the actives last Saturday night at the annual KA Tacky Ball.

Before a full house at the Potomac Boat Club, the actives were found guilty by a stacked jury of pledges of "inconsistency of affection", "sleeping too much" and other misdeeds. Typical of the sentences which brought down the house was a pie-eating contest between two actives and two pledges. The pledges were aided by a waiter, while the actives had their hands tied behind their backs. Highlight of the "court session" came when KA's big wheels Chuck Plyer and Jim Van Story, put on diapers and baby bonnets and peddled around the ball room on a tricycle and wagon.

As the costumed couples entered the ball room of the Club, they were greeted with cardboard signs which poked fun at actives, pledges, and their dates. Before the evening was over many signs had disappeared as souvenirs of the evenings fun. One sign remained undisturbed, however, hanging from the horns of a stuffed moose. It warned the actives not to "steal" the pledges' dates.

The final big of the hilarious evening came at the stroke of midnight when a "chorus line" of pledges did their routine. Sam Streb, wearing the "new look" gave everyone a thrill with his modified strip tease.

Oh, yes, there was dancing also.

• NEW AND USEFUL improvements have been made upon the "kissometer" which will be revived for the forthcoming Engineers' Ball. No longer will contestants be required to hold electrodes, which improvements removes danger of electrical shock. New novelty indicators will be used for measuring the amplitude of osculatory emotional response.

• ERVIN LILYGREN, civil engineer, has attained a goal rarely matched by medical students in publishing a paper in the November issue of the "American Journal of Anatomy." 60,000 calculations were necessary to evaluate the research data in the paper entitled: "Organ-body weight ratios for liver, kidneys, and spleens of laboratory animals." Strangely enough Ervin has never before studied internal anatomical structure.

• FREMONT JEWELL has been recruiting help from the local "Greeks" prior to an interview with the Greek ambassador to the United States. He has concluded that the alphabet is not the best talking point, however, and has gone into extensive study of Greek culture. It is suspected that Venus de Milo has contributed to his choice of subject matter.

• THE BOYS in Engineers Council taking after dear old George himself took out their little hatchets, chopped down the old pine tree, and modestly admitted their guilt. The tree incidentally is the annual Christmas tree erected on Lisner Terrace.

The winning photograph submitted by Poland was entitled "Burning the Midnight Oil" and featured one of the University students slaving over piles of engineering homework. This picture depicted a part of a typical student's day which was the theme of the contest.

The second place photograph featuring "School Romance" was submitted by D. A. Brugioni. Five dollars was awarded by Mr. McKee to the second place winner of the contest. The candida are to be used in The Cherry Tree in a double page spread "Work and Play . . . A Student's Day" or probably more appropriately called "Dawn to Dawn".

Colonial Cagers Head For South Winning Splurge Remains Intact

Win Over Cavaliers, Keydets

By IRA KALFUS

COMBINING THEIR talents to control the backboards and sink foul shots, the Colonial hoopsters increased their winning skin to five games when they edged Virginia, 55-49, and routed V.M.I. 59-40, in games last week.

Sinking 19 out of 22 penalty shots, led by "Bus" Halthcock's six out of seven and Len Small's five for five, the Buffmen proved too tough for the Virginia Cavaliers, who only gained 9 out of 22.

Another vital function controlled by the Colonials was the backboard action, this done effectively by 6'4" freshman Ray "Ace" Adler. Phil McNiff's zealous guarding of All-Stater "Chuck" Noe was another telling factor. Noe, completely bottled up by McNiff, was removed early in the second half.

BULLETIN—George Washington University's basketball team increased its winning streak to six games when they whipped Davidson 57-40 last night at the Armory. Colonials' high scorer was Cantwell with 11 points.

The scoring was very evenly distributed, with Len Small's 11 points taking top honors. This game was the Colonials' best to date and the Buff's ability to drive under pressure was an encouraging highlight. Our victory over the Virginians became even more noteworthy when the Cavaliers came back a few nights later to spill a highly rated Duke quintet.

The Colonials' second Southern Conference victory was accomplished with little trouble, thumping an undermanned V.M.I. outfit 59-40.

This was the Buff's opener at the National Guard Armory and if nothing else, many Colonial rooters got their first glimpse of our new home court.

The Colonials were a sure thing after the first 12 minutes, holding a 31-10 advantage. From there on in the Zahmen shelved their offense, and were through for the evening.

The second half was crudely played and the Buff were actually outscored by the always trying Keydets. The Colonials were not expecting too much trouble and V.M.I. did not disappoint them.

Johnny Moffatt and Bill Cantwell led the scoring in the contest with 13 and 12 points respectively. However, the time consumed in play by both men was little less than a half.

From the Sports Staff

Tankmen Prepare For Coming Meet With Catholic U.

UNDER THE WATCHFUL eye of Coach Elmer Hipsley, the Colonial swimming team is slowly but surely rounding into form.

With less than three weeks practice time remaining before the first meet of the season, which will be with Catholic University on January 10, Coach Hipsley has begun to take time trials of some of his men and seems quite satisfied with their progress.

Although most of the members of the team are inexperienced as far as team competition goes, they are quickly picking up swimming savvy.

The team was bolstered considerably by the acquisition of several new men spotted by Hipsley during the intramural swim meet held last Friday night.

The swimmers can be found practicing every Monday, Wednesday, and Friday evening from 8 to 10 p.m. at the Y.M.C.A. Any students attending the University are urged to attend and try out for the team.

Dodgers Nip Kappa Sig, 7-6, Capture All-U Championship

AN OVER CONFIDENT Dodger team are the new Intramural football champs by the slim margin of 7-6 when Kappa Sigma failed to convert the point after a spectacular touchdown by Paul Foeler at the Ellipse last Sunday morning.

The break in the game came at the end of the third period when Paul Jack, Kappa Sig's backfield star, passed to Foeler who faked defensive back Walt Savage out of position and then out-raced another Dodger back, Marty Gross, to score the T. D. after galloping 50 yards.

Paul Jack's attempt to skirt his left end was stopped by the right side of the Dodger line before he got to the line of scrimmage leaving the score 7-6.

Drawing first blood in the first few minutes of the game when Tony Caruso flipped to Savage, it looked as if the Dodgers would turn this game into a rout as they had all their previous encounters. However, the Kappa Sigs stiffened and held the boys from Brooklyn for the rest of the first half.

The Kappa Sigs received the ball to open the second half as Bob Karpas got off one of his very few bad kicks. Jack then shot an aerial to Bud McLendon that was good for 30 yards and a first down, the first scored against the Dodgers this season. Dodger lineman Bob Schwartz then broke through the line on a pass play and tipping the ball, caused Tony Caruso to nab it for an interception.

However, the Dodger attack was stalemated and the ball again went over to the frat champs. Paul Jack then flipped to Foeler who went over for the only Kappa Sig score.

In the fourth quarter it appeared as if the long quiet Dodger attack was about to explode as Caruso connected on a series of passes to ends George Baroff and Angelo Iodola. The game ended, however, despite a sensational catch by glue-fingered Baroff.

The muddy field slowed down both teams considerably, but the Dodgers, probably felt it more as their powerful running attack headed by scat back Marty Gross was completely ineffective.

Rifle Team Tryouts Still Being Held

TRYOUTS FOR the University rifle team are still being held according to team manager Joe Blanton.

The rifle range is open every Monday, Wednesday and Friday afternoons. The range is located in the basement of Corcoran hall.

All students who would like to try out for the squad are urged to attend any of the practice sessions.

Buff Picked As Victor In Games

By LARRY GOCHBERG

SWINGING DOWN through the South, the Colonial Cagers open up against Richmond tomorrow night with their first of three Southern Conference contests.

After the Richmond game, the team goes directly down to Columbia, South Carolina, meeting South Carolina's Gamecocks Friday night, and then jumps over to Clemson for another game on Saturday night.

The end of this three-day spree

Buff Hoop Schedule

REMAINING games on the Colonials' Basketball schedule are: Richmond, Dec. 17 (Away); South Carolina, Dec. 19 (Away); Clemson, Dec. 20 (Away); N. C. State, Jan. 5 (Away); Virginia, Jan. 7 (Home*); Clemson, Jan. 9 (Home); Georgetown, Jan. 12 (Away); Duke, Jan. 14 (Away); South Carolina, Jan. 17 (Home); Navy, Jan. 24 (Home); V. P. L., Jan. 28 (Away); William & Mary, Jan. 31 (Richmond); Seton Hall, Feb. 4 (Away); Washington & Lee, Feb. 6 (Home); Maryland, Feb. 10 (Home); Washington & Lee, Feb. 16 (Away); V. M. L., Feb. 17 (Away); Georgetown, Feb. 21 (Home); Maryland, Mar. 1 (Away). *All home games to be played at the National Guard Armory.

will be the last tilt the Buffmen play until the important clash with North Carolina State on January 5.

Richmond is not expected to offer much resistance since the squad was weakened by the loss of Captain Weenie Miller who made second team all-southern last season and was their most consistent playmaker. However, Rinaldi, forward, one of their high scorers of last season, is back with them.

In their only significant encounter so far this season, Quantico beat Richmond 42-37.

The Gamecocks will probably prove to be a much more difficult task. Adams, their 6'5" center from Ohio, one of the mainstays of their attack last year is back this season. Colonials' Coach "Otto" Zahn was very impressed with South Carolina's performance in the Conference tourney last year when they pulled an upset over Duke.

The Colonials and South Carolina were knocked out of the Conference on the same night, and both teams rode back to their hotel together crying in each other's beer and making vows of "wait until next year."

Buff Sailors Capture Top Honors

Christmas Gifts From the Grab-Bag

By SKIP FOSTER

• PROS AND CONS CROP UP in the basketball scene these days as to the advantages a team has by staying in the Southern Conference. Looking over at Georgetown, most fans concede that with their schedule this year, every game they win is a big feather in their cap. Not hampered by conference restrictions, the Hoyas play the best squads in the land and also compete in the nation's five major gardens: New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Boston, and St. Louis. Colonials' Coach "Otts" Zahn however, favors the Southern Conference by maintaining that the competition is just as keen with schools like N. C. State, North Carolina, and Duke, all garden favorites, providing the opposition. Throughout the years, competition in league play grows sharper; and an all-important factor . . . officiating is much more uniform.

• IMPRESSIONS THAT STAY WITH YOU for a long time are very rare in sport because one usually gets so many in so short a time. One incident, however, that stands out, happened only last week when Virginia's coach Gus Tebell, exhibited a superior brand of sportsmanship by congratulating Capt. Bill Cantwell and some of the boys for the fine performance that they turned in. The boys were duly impressed by this sincere gesture. Most of the folks that know Gus all agree that he ranks with the finest in the sporting world.

• SAILING TEAM SKIPPER, ERIC NORDHOLM, raced in his final regatta for G. W. last weekend. After conferring with him last Sunday night, he told me that he was definitely leaving the University in February for California. One of the better sailors in the nation, Nordholm hit his peak in the meet last week-end when he and pretty Patsy Granger nosed out the former national champs, Brown and M.I.T., and a host of other sailing big-wigs. The loss of Nordholm, the team's founder and promoter, will be a severe blow to sailing at the University. The students join me in congratulating you for a job well-done and that you give us a chance to build ourselves up before you come back east with a top-flite sailing team.

• TALKING TO BOB WOLFF, WINX sportscaster, after the Georgetown-Loyola of Chicago game Thursday night and we both concurred that the most impressive high light of the evening was the Georgetown rooting section. After the first half, the Hoyas went back into their dressing rooms a bit bewildered by the Loyola exhibition of passing . . . The second half was quite different however, as the dramatic impact could be felt throughout the big barn when the Hoya rooters came on with a solid din of cheering which did not cease until the Hilltoppers were in.

Victorious In Rugged Sea Battle

• COLONIAL SKIPPERS Eric Nordholm, captain, Pat Granger, and Jack Smith beat out Fred Blatt and Ralph Evans of M.I.T. in the twelfth race to take the Inter-Collegiate Midwinter Regatta last Sunday on the Potomac, 102-98. Stealing the show from the first three Universities in National Standing, Brown, M.I.T., and Harvard, with three first places and two seconds, the Colonial Helmsmen scored one of the major upsets of the season.

The 100 spectators which viewed Saturday's racing saw the lead see-saw between Tech and the Colonials. M.I.T. took the lead in the first race when Fred Blatt came across a winner. After the fourth race, the Buffs had captured a two point lead. They lost it in the next race going down two.

Again Sunday, the Yankees and the Colonials handed the lead back and forth with M.I.T. getting the first break in the morning while the winds were shifting all over the river. By the tenth race, the two schools were tied at 72 points, but again the Colonials went down two, but gained a one point lead in the next race when Pat Granger took first for the second time during the day.

From that race to the end, the embattled Buff skippers held their margin first by six points decreasing to four at the end of the 14 race series.

While Georgetown candidate Dolores Gardner was chosen queen of the regatta by the Press Photographers, little Pat Granger was acknowledged queen of the sailors when she took two firsts in a row and left the veteran Ralph Evans of M.I.T. wondering what passed him. Her perfect starts and magnificent timing left little doubt as to her outstanding ability.

Hoop Tourney Swinging Into Final Phases

• THREE LEAGUES wound up competition this past week in Intramural basketball play.

Out-of-towners copped the League "A" title, eliminating the contending Vikings in their final game. In League "B," Navy "A" knocked off Barristers in a crucial game to keep a perfect record and gain the crown. Two teams, Eastern Bombers and Shiners, ended up with 4-1 records in League "C" to tie for group leadership.

It was the Navy "A"—Barrister tilt early last week which determined the winner in League "B," and the Navy came through with a 45-29 victory. Elliot led the winners with 21 points. The out-of-Towners beat the Vikings 32-17 for their fifth win and the League "A" title.

Once again Moser led his club, running up 12 points as the Shiners took a 28-25 victory from the Dodgers. Eastern Bombers beat the Clowns 19-10 in their final game to remain tied with the shiners for league leadership.

Leagues "D" and "E," with a week to go in the schedule were the scenes of some sensational hoop play. The talent-laden Yankees ran up an impressive score in vanquishing Hiller by a 70-13 count. Harvey Shipman, Talbot Dredge, and Merle Leisher, equally at home under the basket as on the gridiron, scored 50 points between them for the Yanks. Bradley Hall had little trouble (See TOURNEY, Page 12)

Girls Hoop Team Boasts Top Season

• THE UNIVERSITY'S girl hoopsters, under the guidance of manager Anne Hirst and Coach Helen Lawrence, are preparing for one of the biggest and best seasons in court history. With many of last year's varsity back, the girls are aiming to better last season's record of ten wins in eleven contests.

Games are being scheduled with the University of Maryland, American University, Hood, Georgetown Visitation, Marjorie Webster, and Goucher Colleges, as well as champion teams from Arlington Farms.

Last year the Buff overpowered highly rated teams by decisive scores, and if practice performances are any indication, there won't be much competition for this year's varsity.

Point makers Anne Hirst, Sue Berger, Calva Kephart, and Dorothy Baines, make up the nucleus of the Buff's scoring threat.

Sharing the spotlight with inter-school contests will be the inter-class rivalries. The class teams will play a round-robin tournament, climaxed by the Odd-Even game. This tilt, which pits the Freshman-Junior combine against the Sophomore-Senior machine, is always one of the best girls games in this area.

the weaker teams in the Conference last year. However, Banks McFadden former, All-American football and basketball player, the Tigers' coach, will probably have a few surprises, lined up for the Colonials when they play on Saturday night.

The Tigers have already dropped two of their games this season: Davidson took them by a 60 to 43 margin, and Georgia beat them 61-52.

By the time this trip ends the Southern Conference race will be well under way, and if the Zahnmen can pull a clean sweep out of this series, they will be well up among the leaders.
